Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. No support for "adaptable width" can be found. An adaptable width is one that may be varied at will. The width in applicant's specification would appear to be static and not vary with time. As such, the claims are considered to be direct to new matter.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The metes and bounds of "adaptable width" can not be determined. An adaptable width is one that may be varied at will. The width in applicant's specification would appear to be static and not vary with time. As such, the term "adaptable width" renders the claims indefinite.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(B) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Davies (U.S. Patent No. 6,224,760). The claims are considered to read on Davies (U.S. Patent No. 6,224,760). Davies (U.S. Patent No. 6,224,760) is considered to inherently have the recited local effective channel height because it has tapered ribs. However, if a difference exists between the claims and Davies (U.S. Patent No. 6,224,760), it would reside in optimizing the elements of Davies (U.S. Patent No. 6,224,760). It would have been obvious to optimize the elements of Davies (U.S. Patent No. 6,224,760) to enhance separation.

The remarks urge patentability based upon the term "adaptable width." However, the term would appear to be both indefinite and new matter. In any event, it would appear that the ribs are a static structure. Davies (U.S. Patent No. 6,224,760) pictorially shows tapered intermediate ribs in Figure 3. As such, the claims are considered to read on Davies (U.S. Patent No. 6,224,760)'s Figure 3 tapered intermediate ribs.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of
